Welcome to Lebanon County Christian Ministries!

Thank you for being a volunteer at Lebanon County Christian Ministries! Volunteers are the hands and heart of our organization, and we are so happy to have you join our team!

We could not provide access to healthy food, to safe shelter, to warm clothing and homes, and guidance toward personal sustainability without the support of hundreds of volunteers!

We invite you to try any role that interests you. We believe there is a volunteer position for everyone. Whether you like to work with people, work with your hands, cook, pick up donations or lend your own expertise, we have a role that will fit your mold.

The following policies and procedures have been established to provide guidance for volunteers. Our staff is here to support you on your journey. If you have any questions regarding any of our volunteer roles or our handbook, please reach out to your direct supervisor. We look forward to getting to know you!

Thank you!
Lebanon County Christian Ministries staff

Organization overview

Our Mission

Lebanon County Christian Ministries shares the love of Jesus by providing food, clothing, shelter, and guidance toward personal sustainability.

Our History

LCCM began its history in 1982 as a small food pantry. Area churches joined together in response to the closure of the Bethlehem Steel Plant.

Many of the employees worked at the plant through several generations and had no skills other than nut and bolt fabrication. They had a hard time finding jobs, which made it difficult to feed their families. Acknowledging the hardship, churches joined together to provide food.

Today, LCCM has grown into a multi-faceted organization. In addition to food, LCCM provides shelter, clothing, administers the free noon meal, provides heating energy and water bill assistance, and administers the USDA's federal government surplus food program (TEFAP) and the Commodity Supplemental Food Program (CSFP).

A 15-member Board of Directors and Council of Delegates (made up of two representatives from each member congregation), provide the direction needed to ensure financial and spiritual support of the ministry. A small staff and hundreds of volunteers carry out the day-to-day operations, ensuring that Christ's love and compassion is shown to all who come for help.

Helpful Information

Volunteer Orientation

The volunteer orientation is an opportunity to learn more about our organization and programs. For new volunteers with no prior volunteer experience with Lebanon County Christian Ministries, it is strongly recommended to complete an orientation within a couple of months of your start date. The orientation is required before volunteering in most areas of the organization. Supervision, on-the-job training, and more formal training will take place as needed, dependent upon the volunteer role. The orientation is largely informational, both virtually and in-person.

Virtually: Every volunteer should watch the training overview videos on the client choice overview, boundaries, guest relations, and food safety here:

<https://www.lccm.us/volunteertraining>

In-person: It is strongly recommended to get a tour of the facility prior to the start of your shift so you can get a better understanding of the layout of the building, meet staff and other volunteers, and see how each program works together with the whole.

Policies

Food Distribution Policy

Lebanon County Christian Ministries is a recipient of the federal Emergency Food Assistance Program, which provides food commodities to food banks, pantries, shelters, and soup kitchens. Through TEFAP, the USDA purchases USDA foods and makes them available to State Distributing Agencies. LCCM is also a partner of the Central Pennsylvania Food Bank which falls under the umbrella of Feeding America. As such, Lebanon County Christian Ministries is required to follow all rules established by the federal and state governments, as well as Feeding America.

All “distributable” items (food, supplies, etc) donated to Lebanon County Christian Ministries must be given to guests of LCCM or to an organization partnered with LCCM. Items that are determined to be “non-distributable” are considered waste and do not fall into the above requirement. If volunteers choose to take food that has been deemed non-distributable, LCCM isn’t responsible for the safety of the food.

Examples of non-distributable food:

- Severely damaged canned goods
- Food dated beyond the USDA’s food safety guidelines
- Perishable items with mold, punctures, or severe bruising

In order to safeguard the health of our guests, volunteers must follow the provided food safety guidelines when determining whether perishable food should be considered waste. Please refer any questions to the Nutrition Program Manager or Market Coordinator.

Volunteers as clients

Our volunteers may be our guests, and, as such, will be treated the same as all other guests. Only registered guests will be eligible to receive food available for distribution. Volunteers will participate in distributions open to the public and will follow the same protocols as the public. No preferential treatment is given to volunteers at distributions.

You must register as a guest and have an appointment for other LCCM services, such as utility payment assistance, and receiving clothing in the clothing bank. You may shop for food before or after your regular volunteer shift. If storage for food is needed, it must be labeled with the volunteer’s name and placed in the designated area in the processing area.

Behavior Policy

Volunteers must treat LCCM's guests, volunteers, and other staff and community partners with dignity and respect. Our goal is to make the guest and volunteer experience as comfortable and welcoming as possible. Dismissal of a volunteer may take place when the volunteer fails to adhere to the policies and procedures outlined in this handbook.

Grievance Policy

LCCM welcomes feedback, including complaints from guests, volunteers, and staff. This communication allows us to correct any issues with our service and allows us the opportunity to re-establish relationships and learn how to improve our service quality and delivery.

Volunteers should discuss their complaint or grievance with their program supervisor in a calm, respectful manner. If the complaint is about your supervisor, the volunteer should bring their complaint to their supervisor or the executive director. The appropriate staff will gather more information and determine the course of action to resolve the complaint.

Client and Volunteer Confidentiality Policy

Confidentiality is a guaranteed right to our guests and volunteers. Guests' needs, concerns and personal situations are not to be discussed with anyone other than the appropriate staff members. Using personal contact information to connect with clients or volunteers without their consent is strictly prohibited and terms for volunteer dismissal.

End of Service

If possible, please provide notice prior to your last day of service at LCCM. This will give us a chance to thank you for your dedication to our organization and wish you well on your next venture. We will then remove you from our database which helps us in accurately tracking our volunteers. To remain an 'active' volunteer in our database, volunteers must complete 2 service hours in a 12-month period. Volunteers with fewer hours will remain in our database but will be coded as 'archived.' To become active again, a volunteer simply needs to call/text/email info@lccm.us.

Harassment Policy

Harassment is considered to be any unwanted behavior or condition based on personal characteristics that creates an uncomfortable, hostile, offensive, or intimidating work environment. Harassment can include, but is not limited to, physical or psychological abuse, derogatory remarks, insults, slurs, advances, jokes, touching, pictures, requests or offers of favors, and decisions or actions based on personal characteristics. If you observe or believe you are the subject of harassment, tell the involved individual(s) the behavior is unwanted if you feel comfortable doing so. If you'd like support in addressing the situation, or the behavior continues, please report the incident to your supervisor.

Volunteer Liability Waiver

All volunteers are volunteering at their own risk. If an injury occurs at LCCM, the volunteer must immediately notify their supervisor and fill out an incident report within 24 hours of the incident. LCCM may seek emergency medical treatment in case of injury, accident, or illness. Volunteers are responsible for medical costs incurred by accident, illness, and injury.
